Subject: RE: First draft of IRIS briefer for next week

Let me make a clean version, and see if there are any final formatting issues. I'll send that and the rest of the materials to you all tonight, and cc kevin and Amanda.

Hope Universal is fun!

Lou,

Thanks. Still seeing a formatting problem with the first bullet in the discussion section. I will review again on my computer later tonight.

Generally this is in good shape. Still hoping to get final input from OCHP before the Tuesday briefing.

Please make sure Kevin/Amanda have all the materials so we can make any final changes on Monday. Thanks for all the hard work.

Have a safe and wonderful holiday.

Apologies for version whiplash. If you haven't looked at it yet, please look at draft 5 of the IRIS briefer (attached).

This one has been revised to reflect latest input from OP.

I'll do a version in PDF and word. That might help if you're reading on the phone.

Lou,

Please take a look at the first bullet on the last page. In my version (as read on my phone) the text is incomplete/garbled.

If we think this is close (pending anything that comes up next Monday), I can clean up, fix margins, and pull the rest of the background information together in an email so you have everything in one place.

New draft attached, addressing Jennifer's comment below (although it's a bit complicated to explain). Also other minor edits. See what you think.

Hi Jennifer and David,

Attached is a copy of a briefing 1-pager for next week's discussion on the IRIS nominations. See what you think. You'll also get a link to a onedrive page, if that helps for review while people are out of the office. I'm happy to merge edits from emailed copies though.

Note I left a space at the end for any edits that might be needed given NCEA will be briefing the two of you next week on Monday. Someone else will need to take the pen on that.

Along with the one-pager, as background materials I would propose to send the memo that was sent out in Aug 2018, and the most recent round of prioritizations.
